The Last Day's Exercises Lose Nothing in Interest.

DR. GORDY ON CLAY IN OUR HISTORY

An Intelligent View of that Era, its Causes and Influences-Clay the Great Compromiser - Talks on Drawing Again Interest all the Teachers - Prot. Joseph Devine Talks-Good Fruit Expected from the Institute in the Work of the

The annual institute for the teachers of the city schools closed yesterday. The interest was maintained to the last. The exercises opened promptly on time. The roll was called and nearly every teacher answered. Superintendent Auderson gave a short talk concerning the work of the year just opening. Among other things, he stated that the principals were to teach regular classes but one, hour each day, and were to spend the remainder of the day in general school work. All teachers' meetings for this month are declared off, this week's meeting taking the place of all f them. Prof. C. B. Davie spent some time on

Prof. C. B. Dayle spent sometime on the subject of reading, giving instruc-tion on emphasis. He referred to quite a number of authors and to selections from their writings. Among other things, he said that Joseph Jefferson said that in every great play there is one great act; in every act there is one great scene; in every act there is one great sentence; in every sentence there is one great word; in every word there is one great syllable, and in every syllable there is one great letter.

Miss Robinson followed with a drill

Prof. Little then gave a chalk talk, in which he showed how much there is especially to the primary teacher in especially to the brimary teacher in knowing how to represent on the black-board the objects or animals about which they were talking to the pupils. He also gave instances of conquering incorrigibles by interesting them with such work.

After a short recess Dr. Gordy gave one of his interesting and impressive one of his interesting and impressive talks on history. Taking Henry Clay for his text, he spoke first of his success for his text, hospoke lirst of his success as an orator, and next as a statesman. He spoke of him as the great actor in the American history of his time.

There was a climax, as it were, in Henry Clay's life. He was the great compromiser. The constitution itself contains three compromises. One clause of the constitution put a premium on slavery, that is five slaves were equal to three white men in representation. The fugitive slave-law put sentation. The fugitive slave law put sentation. The togitive slave-law put a premium on benevolence. The con-stitution allowed the slave trade for twenty years after its passage. It thus put a premium on robbery. Thus our constitution lied, and no nation can lie with impunity. Our na-tion has been taught this in letters of blood. The influence of slavery was as if great wedge was being driven into the heart of our country, and long before it did come the great war would have come if the union had not been held to-gether by compromises, and these com-promises were introduced by Henry Clay. The speaker tried to impress on all

The speaker tried to impress on an that we are what we are, on account of our environments. The influence of slavery was so great as in a few years to change the political opinions of a man. But why, asks one, would it not have been better for the south to have seceded when they first threatened it in 1820? Why would it not have been bet-ter for the war to have come then than forty years later?

The speaker said: The north could not if it would, and would not if it could, have prevented the south's se-ceding. This he showed by arguments based on the history of the country. His entire lecture was very interesting, and all seemed sorry when he was forced to stop on account of the time for adjournment coming.

adjournment coming.

The niternoon session was opened promptly at 1 o'clock and the roll was called. Miss Parsons gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the subject of drawing, which was listened to with the closest attention. As she is to be with the teachers once a month during the year, they are anxious to get everything they can from her while she is with them now, Miss Robinson led in the singing of

Dr. Gordy gave his last talk and by it was thought to be his very best. He gave the teachers much good advice He gave the teachers much good navice. He again spoke of the absolute importance of the teacher's securing the voluntary attention of the pupils. This can be done if the teacher is full of her subject. He had been asked why he was so estnest on the subject of history. Was no earnest on the subject of history. He said it was because he was thoroughly American, and there was nothing more greatly needed in our schools to-day than the teaching of a pure Americanism to our boys and girls, and there is nowhere that this can be done better than in our public schools. If all the teachers of our country would teach history as it should be taught, we would soon have a citizenship that would be above that of those who can be led at will by the demagogue, be led at will by the demagogue.

Dr. Gordy is a wonderful man. His carnestness holds the attention of his heares, no matter on what subject he talks. His work during the week has been very satisfactory, all the teachers being sorty that they were not permitted to hear more from him. He will be welcomed to Wheeling at any time he may come again, and it is to be hoped the time may not be long when he will be heard here again.

the time may not be long when he will be heard here again.

J. M. Davine, of North Daketa, a native of Wheeling, and now state educational tecturer in his adopted state, was introduced by Superintendent Anderson, and he gave a fifteen minutes' talk full of eloquence, and especially of patriotism. His talk was well received, and he was loudly applauded at its close. Prof. Little gave some charcoal sketches, in which he brought down the house, especially in his character sketch of Dr. Gordy. It was perfect. Mr. Little carries sunshine with life wherever he goes. A look at his kind face is he goes. A look at his kind face enough to cure one of the blues, has won a place in the hearts of tea ers and people here which will be last ing. He is so versatile in his ways and manners that it is impossible for an audience to tire of listening to him. Thus he goes from place to place, scattering sunshine, good humor, and the very best of influence among all with whom he comes in contact. He revery best of influence among all with whom he comes in contact. He re-mains over Sunday in Wheeling, and will give an illustrated crayen talk to the young men at the Y, M. C. A. hall at 4 o'clock p. m. All should hear him. Prof. J. McHenry Jones reported res-olutions of thanks, which were unan-imously adopted, and so closed one of the most successful institutes ever held in Wheeling. This is said not because it is customary to speak in high terms of what has last been done, but there has been more really awakening work done than at any former one, and t fruits of it will be seen in the work

A STRANGE NUMBNESS.

Journal and Tribune, Laurence, Kan.

It was a newspaper article that caused Mrs. E. I. Whipple, who was stopping at 1136 Pennsylvania street, Lawrence, Kau., to try a medicine for which were claimed valuable qualities for diseases and ailments that seemed to fit her case. She was then living in Michigan and it was some time before she got around to taking the medicine, but in December, 1893, she began and has since that time become a well woman. Mrs. Whipple never tires telling about the remedy that helped her so much, and when called on by the reporter was glad to give the desired information about her case. She said that in December, 1893, she first commonced to use Dr. Williams! Pink Pills for Pale People. At times she would be so dizzy-headed and so very nervous that she could hardly get around. She had spells of numbness, a pin stuck into her body producing no feeling whatever. After she took one box of Pink Pills she felt a good deal box of this this sine set a good deal better, but kept on taking them till four boxes had been used, when she found herself completely cured. She no longer feels any dizziness or numbness, and feels as though it was a duty to make known to everyone her happy ex perience with Pink Pills. Not only in justice to the proprietors does she gladly do this on every occasion, but that those similarly afflicted may learn where to look for a remedy for every nervous disease. She recommends the Pink Pills highly and thinks that they also cured her of nervousness.

Mrs. Whipple is getting well along in years, and for a time was almost helpless. When she began taking Pink Pills her youth ascened to return and she was perience with Pink Pills. Not only in her youth seemed to return and she was strong and hearty again. She lives at her Michigan home, but has been stay-ing with her relatives in Lawrence for over six months, and besides proclaiming the praises of Pink Pills from her home she speaks of them wherever she is acquainted.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a

How to Gain Happiness.

To all those who suffer from either functional or organic diseases—whose lives have been made miserable from the ravages of disease, there is still hope. Not that elusive lope offered by so many and never fulfilled, but some thing tangible, something that is soft-evident. Dr. Ottman has made the objects of careful study the many dis-eases to which the human system is heir to. After years of painstaking endeavor he has arrived at definite conclusion that almost absolutely guaran-tees a cure. No matter how much a patient's system has been undermined, he builds up and cures alke. To any invalid who values life, health and happiness, we would advise them to consult with this eminent physician. A consultation costs nothing, and may be the means of bringing you health and happiness. Dr. Ottman, formerly of New York, now of Columbus, Ohio, by special request of friends and pa-tients, has decided to visit Bridgeport, Sherman house, Tuesday, September 10, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., and Bellaire, Ciobe 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., and Bellaire, hetel, Wednesday, September 11, to 8 p. m.
